Saint-Omer region “Pays d’art et d’histoire” (Land of art and history)

The "Land of Art and History of Saint-Omer" is part of a national network of "Towns of Art and History."

This designation is attributed by the Ministry of Culture and Communication to communities which are particularly committed to promoting and informing people about their architecture and heritage.

These towns and regions present their heritage in all its diversity, from ancient ruins to the architecture of the 21st century.

It now represents a network of 184 towns and regions all over France.

The Land of Art and History of Saint-Omer is one of the departments of AUD Agency for Urban planning and Development of the Saint-Omer region.

This department is devoted to promoting the region's heritage and organizes events all year round for the local population, visitors and schools.

The challenges of renovation and enhancement of built patrimony

Conclusions

The objective of the workshop was to show to the participants the challenges for cities to valorize built patrimony. Several recently renovated buildings (motte castrale, Theatre, chapel) were visited with a historical guide.

Pictures of the situation before renovation were shown and explained before the guided tours
